

Small alert/visual cue about how suited a colour palette is to colourblind people

I saw this new feature in Datawrapper and was wondering if it's one which could be deployed in Tableau Desktop

Having a visual cue somewhere, or a little alert which tells the user/designer/developer that the palette they are using isn't particularly colourblind friendly - and for each type.